

hello said sally when she entered the room she walked up to her friend without looking at him and continued speaking do you know who did it tom we really need to figure out who wants to hurt us tom looked down at the floor shaking his head it was clear that he had been crying i have asked around but there are no clear answers yet he said i have talked to mr robinson ms brown and mrs hernandez but none of them have seen or heard anything they havent noticed anything out of the ordinary there was a cross left at the crime scene so we can assume that the perpetrator is a christian or pretends to be there was also a note on the floor with a phone number leading to someone in jamaica but these clues dont make any sense sally exclaimed tom got up from his chair and looked out the window i know he sighed but we need to keep looking we need to find whoever killed my brother and we need to do it before somebody else gets in his way weve got to find the murderer please god help us find whoever has done this
