

Goodnight Stories for Rebel Girls

My name is:

The person I have chosen to learn more about is:

Start by reading the text about your person in Goodnight Stories for Rebel Girls. Answer the first questions based on the text in the book. Then, google to find more information.

Question	Answer - always write your own sentences, never copy full sentences from the text you use as a source
Where is there person from?
When did the person live?
Where did the person live?
Why is this person famous?
What struggles did this person encounter? What made life hard for her? Try to give a few different examples if possible.
Google to find more information about this person. Write the URLs to your sources here. Use at least two different websites.
When googling, what else did you learn about this person that you didn't learn in the first text? Write at least three things.
Which keyword query (words in the search field) did you use to find the information? Did you change your keyword query if you didn't find what you wanted? In what way?
Are all the websites you used trustworthy? Why/why not?
Did you find anything that surprised you? What? Why?
Now look in the book once more. Find another person in the book who encountered similar struggles. They don't have to be exactly the same, but

similar. Who is the other person? In what way are the two girls similar? What differences are there?
Find three pictures online that represent your person. Use the search filters to find pictures you are allowed to share. Copy the sources to your pictures and add them here.
Make one slide in either Google Presentations or at canva.com. In this slide you add <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- The name of your person</li><li>- Five keywords</li><li>- Your three pictures</li><li>- Your own name</li></ul> Hand in your slide in Google Classroom.
